

Risk Warnings

Purchasing in early-stage and other growth-focused businesses can be extremely rewarding, but it involves several risks and challenges. If you choose to purchase in businesses displayed on GetTangi Corporation and its subsidiaries, you need to be aware of and accept five important considerations:

1. Loss of Capital

Most early-stage businesses and many other growth-focused businesses fail, and if you purchase in a business displayed on the platform, it is significantly more likely that you will experience loss, than not. You should not purchase the types of businesses displayed on the platform without considering would the cost alter your standard of living.

2. Illiquidity

Almost all purchases you make in businesses displayed on the platform will be highly illiquid. It is very unlikely that there will be a liquid secondary market for the products of the business. This means you should assume that you will be unlikely to be able to exchange/swap your products even if the business is bought by another company or develops as planned. Even for a successful business, purchase or development is unlikely to occur for several years from the time you make your purchase. For businesses for which secondary market opportunities are available (including any available on the platform), it can be difficult to find an exchange/swap, and purchasers should not assume that any exchange/swap will be available just because a secondary market exists.

3. Rarity of Dividends

Businesses of the type displayed on the platform rarely succeed. This means that if you purchase in a business through the platform, even if it is successful, you are unlikely to see any use of your product until you can exchange/swap your products. Even for a successful business, this is unlikely to occur for several years from the time you make your purchase.

4. Dilution

Any purchase you make in a business displayed on the platform is likely to be subject to dilution. This means that if the business develops successfully later, it will issue new products to the new purchasers, and the percentage of the business that you own will decline. These new products may also have certain preferential rights to dividends, sale proceeds and other matters, and the exercise of these rights may work to your disadvantage. Your purchases may also be subject to dilution because of the grant of GetTangi Corporation options (or similar rights to acquire shares) to employees of, service providers to or certain other contacts of the business. There is also a very high possibility that you will be obliged to accept a replacement product in the future, if the company decides to change business strategy.

5. Diversification

If you choose to purchase products in businesses of the type displayed on the platform, such purchases should only be made as part of a well-diversified plan. This means that you should purchase only a relatively small portion of products in such businesses, and most of your purchases should be in safer, more liquid assets. It also means that you should spread your purchases between multiple businesses rather than purchasing a larger amount in just a few.